

IELTS Speaking / Grammar

A) Original sentences with mistakes:

1. I think elderly frail single people's needs to be prioritised.
2. Helping people depends on situations and it can be done in vary ways.
3. I can mention two reasons in respond this question.
4. But now many people giving importance to community work.
5. I must admit that there is an high demand in life quality which cause people to focus on themselves rather than the others.

B) The same sentences with grammar corrections underlined:

1. I think elderly, frail, single people need to be prioritised.
2. Helping people depends on the situation, and it can be done in various ways.
3. I can mention two reasons in response to this question.
4. But now many people are giving importance to community work.
5. I must admit that there is a high demand for a better quality of life, which causes people to focus on themselves rather than on others.

C) How I would write (or say) the sentences in a more natural way:

1. I think we should prioritise helping elderly people, especially those who are frail and live alone.
2. We can help other people in a variety of ways, depending on the situation.
3. I think there are two reasons why some people like helping others.
4. Many people think that it's important to help others in their communities.
5. I think people are focused on improving their own lives, rather than helping others.

Note:

Although the corrected sentences in section B are acceptable, I much prefer the sentences in section C. Examiners will also prefer the 'natural' sentences.